THE ALISTAIR HULETT MEMORIAL FUND

is a non-profit association established in Australia and the UK after the untimely death in 2010 of singer, songwriter, political activist and social justice advocate, Alistair Hulett.

The purpose of the Fund, in addition to preserving Alistair Hulett's musical legacy, is:

- to promote traditions of social justice, tolerance and multiculturalism in music and song, and;
- to support events and initiatives in music and song consistent with Alistair's legacy.

All donations and income from the sale of merchandise associated with Alistair Hulett and the AHMF, including CDs, goes to the Fund.

WORKING IN SOLIDARITY

A significant proportion of all funds raised by the AHMF will go to grants, prizes and scholarships awarded to musicians whose focus is on social justice issues and whose music champions those aims for which the Fund was established.

For further information log on to the website www.alistairhulett.com or contact the Trustees via the details provided at the back of this brochure.
